

ReADY Space

Connect with Your Campus Community to Visualize your Space and Utilize it Efficiently

ReADY Space crowdsources space data from trusted sources and makes it visible to campus leaders, enabling them to optimize space utilization and inform long-range planning.

The solution answers practical questions that come up on campus every day like: Where is everybody? Where is the vacant space? How big is that building?

Solve Problems

- Space data and floor plans are too often out of reach.
Trusted people can now easily access the data they need to do their jobs 24/7.
- It's too big of a job for facilities to maintain the data on its own. ReADY Space gets more reliable people involved in verifying your comprehensive space dataset.

- Customizable space surveys collect only the data pertinent to the question at hand. ReADY Space enables an agile approach to respond to a wider variety of space information requests flexibly. You no longer have to dread the phone call or email requesting information for a building that hasn't been surveyed in three years.
- Administrative views of surveys in flight provide detailed progress reports and ensure data quality. No more wondering if you are going to meet your deadline.

A Unique Approach

ReADY Space connects the people that know the most about your space data to your operation within a single, unified platform that for the first time features the advanced capabilities of the Autodesk Forge Viewer, Mobile Friendly Space Surveys, and Integrated Google Maps.

Key Benefits

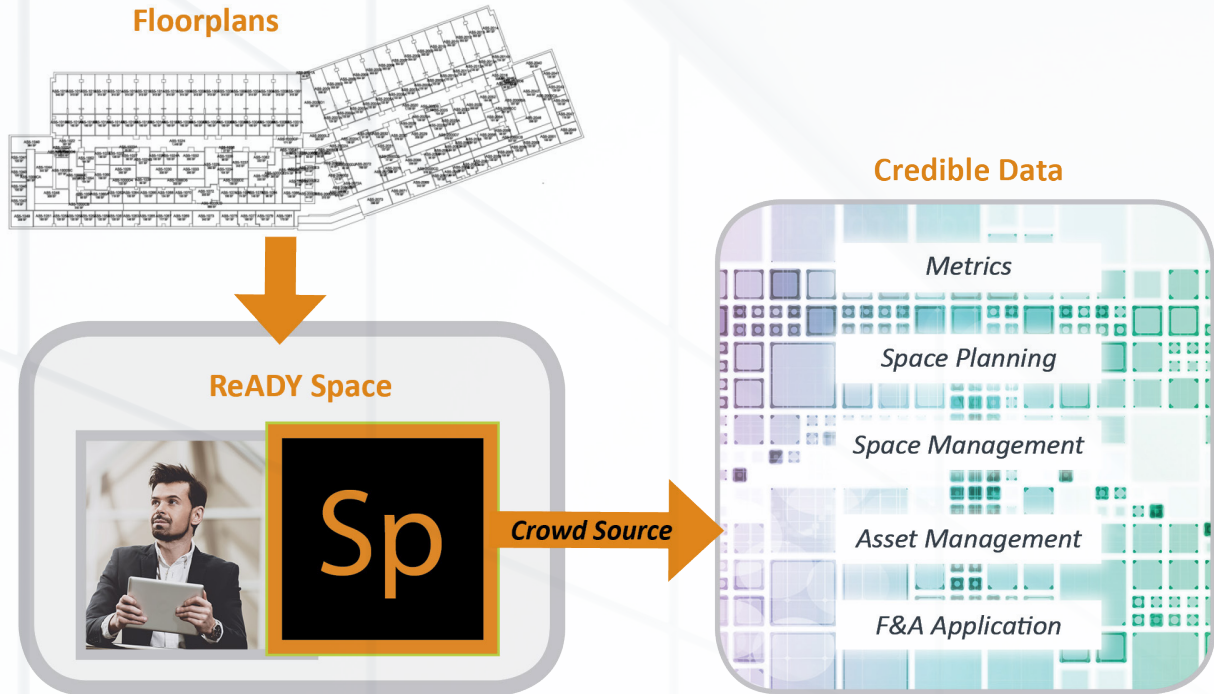

- Serve your campus community better with timely, accurate space data
- Make surveying simpler with mobile-friendly space surveys
